

Inter-Programme Debate '95

Debaters, Organisers and the Judges

"All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy!" say the students of WMU twinning program.

"All play no work makes Jack a stupid boy! an 'A' level student retorted in reply.

Despite examinations in the midst, the Sunway College students found precious time in between to debate all sorts of issues pertinent to today's youth.

The finals centred on the question of whether College and University students were too pre-occupied with academic development at the expense of character building.

The judges, with Tan Sri Navaratnam as chief, deemed that the students were indeed very pre-occupied with academic development and examinations at that moment!
