

Visitors to Sunway College

The college arranged for visiting Professor from one of its twinning institutions, the Western Michigan University, Professor William McCarty (far left) to give two public lectures in January.

The American expert on International Banking and Law gave an evening lecture on "International Business and the U.S. Legal Environment" at the College.

He was able to meet and speak with other counterparts in the field when he spoke at a Luncheon Forum on "Global Banking Environment - Towards the 21st Century" at the Bankers Club in Kuala Lumpur.

They say it's hard to teach old dogs new tricks. That may be the case with dogs but not our distinguished panel of visiting educationists from Vietnam, seen here listening intently to Datuk Lokman in our Language Lab.

"Careful now with the Waterford Michael," Professor James Fawcett (right) seems to be saying to Executive Director of Sunway College, Mr Michael Yeoh.

Professor Fawcett, Dean of the Law Faculty at Leicester was recently in Kuala Lumpur to meet with the Sunway students at the College.

At the cocktail party for the law graduates of the University, Professor Fawcett presented the College with a special gift in appreciation for excellence in education at Sunway College.
