

JUDGEMENT FROM AN ENGLISH LAW STUDENT

Firstly, we, the future graduates of Leicester University, would like to thank Dato' Jeffery Cheah for starting Sunway College and having the twinning degree programme with the Law Faculty. Dato' Cheah has also supported and subsidised the Annual Law Society Dinner which was held at the Petaling Jaya Hilton, a few weeks ago.

Furthermore, The SungeiWay Group has contributed M$400,000 towards the law books of the Sunway College library. As a result, various reviews, reports, journals, textbooks, etc., are now at our disposal.

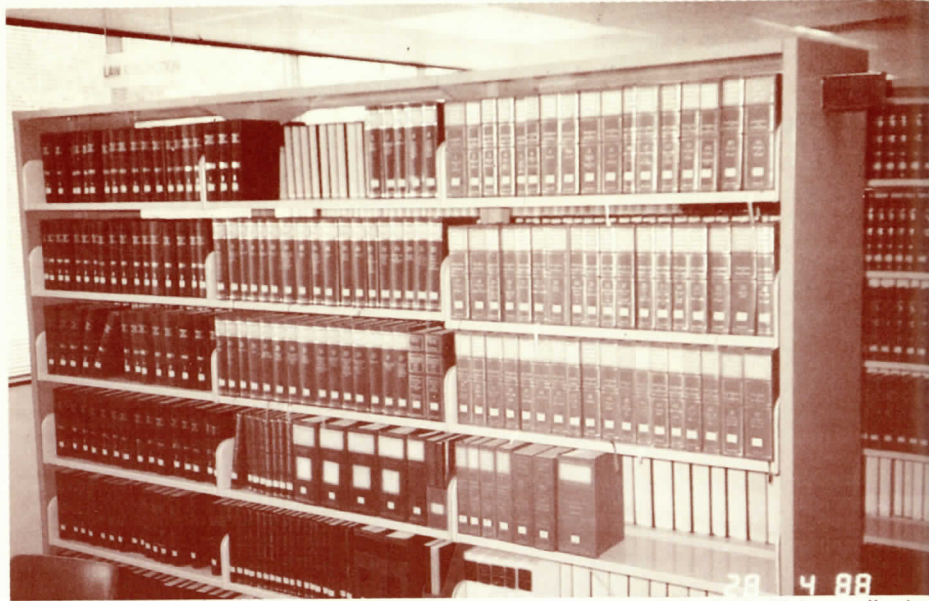

In a few weeks' time, our first Sunway Law Review will come out and with the support of everyone concerned, we expect it to be a tremendous success.

Generally, Sunway College, is a blessing to us all. The opportunity given to us is deeply appreciated, much more so since the decline in the country's economy, the rise of tuition fees abroad and the unfavourable exchange rate between the United Kingdom and Malaysia.

Besides that, everyone in Sunway College is very helpful, not in the least, our three law lecturers.

In addition, Sunway College has no lack of facilities for us - student concourse, student lounge and cafeteria.

Notwithstanding all these facilities, there are a few improvements which we would like to humbly submit for consideration by the College.

Part of the $400,000 Law collection

Firstly, there is a lack of parking space for those who drive to college. I also hope that the noise both outside as well as inside the library can be somehow controlled. In my experience, the library, especially the third floor, can at times be more noisy than when we are having an active tutorial session. The lack of discipline in this aspect is probably due to the lack of staff in the library who are apparently too busy to keep order on the third floor. Of course, the students themselves are also largely to be blamed for this trivial problem.

As you can see, from this objective comment, Sunway College, without its small number of problems, is generally, a leader among colleges. Its building (its form) is eye-catching and its people (its substance) are even better.
